RICE COMPANIES EXPANDS SERVICES WITH PURCHASE OF GOSEWISCH CONSTRUCTION

(SAUK RAPIDS, Minn.) – Rice Companies recently announced the purchase of Mankato-based Gosewisch Construction, one of south central Minnesota’s leading family-owned, design/build general contractors.

“The addition of Gosewisch and its team will help Rice Companies expand our services and better serve our customers in southern Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota,” said Chris Rice, CEO/President.

Gosewisch’s office in Mankato will be the third location and second acquisition for Rice Companies. Headquartered in Sauk Rapids, MN, Rice Companies also has an office in Glencoe, MN. Rice acquired Cosmos-based Raske Construction in 2013.

Rice will retain all of Gosewisch’s current construction and field staff. Gosewisch was founded by David Gosewisch in 1977.

Rice Companies offers true single-source construction services, including in-house architectural, construction management, self-performing field services, real estate development and brokerage along with facility maintenance services. The third-generation, 65-year old company serves the five-state area.
